

Germany Says Allies Must Return Colonies As League Entry Proviso

Von Neurath, Nazi Foreign Minister, Clarifies Reich's Attitude on Possessions and Mandates at Berlin Conversation Friday.

TO SATISFY HITLER

Great Britain Is Ready to Mollify Reichsfuhrer; Naval Talks Also Discussed at Meeting.

London, May 25 (AP).—Germany has informed Great Britain that her right to hold colonies must be recognized in some tangible form by the former allies before she will return to the League of Nations, well-informed British quarters said today.

The German attitude toward colonial possessions and mandates was clarified in an interview yesterday in Berlin by Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador, with Konstantin Von Neurath, German foreign minister.

It was officially disclosed here that Sir Eric was ordered to contact Von Neurath to ask him questions regarding various points raised in Adolf Hitler's Tuesday's Reichstag speech.

Great Britain, it was understood, plans to proceed as quickly as possible with the necessary steps to satisfy Hitler.

Von Neurath, it was understood, said Germany's demand for 35 per cent of the strength of the British navy would not be altered if she were granted her former colonies or mandates. He made clear she does not want actual possession of the colonies or mandates at the present time.

Plans for Anglo-German naval talks, which probably will begin within 10 days, also were believed to have been discussed.

The Lost Colonies

Germany's lost colonies include: Tanganyika, territory comprising the greater part of German East Africa, now under League mandate to Great Britain.

Cameroun: Formerly German protectorate on west coast of Central Africa, now under French and British mandates.

Togoland: Formerly German protectorate on the west coast of Africa, now under League mandate to Britain and France.

German Southwest Africa: Now British mandate territory administered under name of Southwest Africa Protectorate by the Union of South Africa.

Kiau-Chau: Formerly a German protectorate on the south side of the Peninsula of Shantung, China. Japan was given sovereignty over it following the war, although no official mandate. China protested. Under a Sino-Japanese treaty signed at Washington in 1922 the area was returned to China and full Chinese sovereignty was reestablished.

German possessions in the Pacific: North of the equator the islands of Caroline, Marshall, Pelew and Ladrone were given to Japan under mandate. South of the equator the Bismarck Archipelago, German Solomon Islands and Kaiser-Wilhelmsland (New Guinea) were mandated to Australia and German Samoa was mandated to New Zealand.

Schwab Reports Salary

Washington, May 25 (AP).—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of Bethlehem Steel Corp., today joined the small group of executives who thus far have reported 1934 salary and other payments in excess of $150,000. Schwab got $250,000, the report to the securities commission showed, and Eugene Grace, Bethlehem president, $180,000. R. E. McMath, vice president, was paid $58,500.

In more prosperous times Schwab and Grace received several hundred thousands more than these sums in the form of bonuses while their salaries were a nominal few thousand. The report of the securities commission said executive officers were paid no bonuses in 1933 or 1934.

James W. Blake Dead

New York, May 25 (AP).—James W. Blake, who immortalized memories of a happy childhood in one of the greatest songs in song—In Peverly. Death of cancer came to the 72-year-old author of the lyric of "The Sidewalks of New York" last night.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith to whose presidential campaign the piece was a theme song had come to his aid. Blake, who actually had cancer to hardy-gurdy melodies with Mamie O'Rourke on the side-walks of East Eighteenth street, wrote the words to the music by Charles B. Lawler, a vaudeville actor, while working in a hat store in 1914.

Swiss Complaint

Berne, Switzerland, May 25 (AP).—Swiss customs authorities complained today that squadrons of German airplanes violated the frontier by making flights over Swiss territory during the past few days. An official report said eight German planes flew over Schaffhouse May 22 at a very high altitude, making it impossible to see the license numbers of the planes. The report also declared four German planes flew over Grenchen at a very low altitude and that there was no question of their identity. It was expected the Swiss government would protest to Berlin.

Lieut. Frederick L. Anderson, Jr., Wins the Distinguished Flying Cross

War Department Granted Medal for Heroism Displayed for Piloting Burning Plane Away From Congested Area in San Francisco—Former Kingston Boy Then Baled Out and Endangered Life in San Francisco Bay—Act of Heroism Occurred December 14, 1934.

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (AP).—State Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck today ordered an extension of minimum resale milk prices to all Ulster, Sullivan, Greene and Orange counties, effective Monday and continuing until September 30.

Heretofore, prices for reselling milk applied to only parts of Ulster and Orange counties and all of Sullivan.

At the same time, the commissioner ordered that milk and cream sold from stores be at the same rate as from retail wagons, "because a major portion of store milk sold in the area is delivered to consumers with other supplies."

The action followed a hearing here on Thursday.

Minimum Milk Price For Ulster County on Monday

Washington, May 25 (AP).—A distinguished flying cross and two distinguished service medals were awarded three New Yorkers by the War Department today.

The distinguished flying cross was awarded First Lieut. Frederick L. Anderson, Jr., air corps, of Kingston, N. Y., for heroism displayed while participating in an aerial flight on December 14, 1934.

"An airplane piloted by Lieut. Anderson while maneuvering over San Francisco, Cal.," according to the citation, "caught fire. Directing his mechanic to jump and preparing himself to do likewise, Lieut. Anderson, observing that he was directly over the city, returned to the cockpit, despite the fact that it was almost completely enveloped in flames, piloted the burning plane from the city then jumped in his parachute into San Francisco Bay.

The parachute submerged and he was in grave danger of drowning until rescued by one of the crew of the U. S. S. Oklahoma. Had Lieut. Anderson not displayed an extraordinary amount of courage, coolness and disregard for his own life, the airplane would probably have crashed in a congested part of the city, thus possibly causing considerable loss of life and destruction to private property.

Anderson is now on duty at Crisfield, Cal.

The distinguished service crosses were awarded to John T. Knight, Jr., Paramount Theatres Service Corporation, New York city, and Peter Dachsiewicz, 159 East 218th street, Bronx, New York city. Knight, formerly a captain in Battery "A" 20th Field Artillery, Fifth Division, was cited for extraordinary heroism in action during the St. Mihiel offensive in France Sept. 12, 1918.

Dachsiewicz, a sergeant, was cited for extraordinary heroism in action during the Meuse-Argonne offensive in France Sept. 26, 1918.

Anderson was a resident of Kingston, N. Y., at the time of his heroic act. He is a private in Company "L," 16th Infantry, first division in the World War.

He was cited for extraordinary heroism in action near Solosons, July 21, 1918.

"During the attack," according to the citation, "Private Dachsiewicz was buried in debris by an exploding shell, rendered unconscious, and his automatic rifle destroyed. After regaining consciousness and receiving first aid, he refused to be evacuated. Securing another automatic rifle from a dead soldier, despite his injuries, he rejoined his platoon and continued with the advance. Later in the action by the effective use of his automatic rifle, he aided materially in repelling a counter attack."

Ohrenburg's Leg Is Broken and Burger Is Held for Assault

William Ohrenburg, an employee of Marie Miers, who operates a resort on the Ashokan boulevard at Stony Hollow, is in the Kingston Hospital with a broken leg and George Burger of Stony Hollow, is being held in $100 bail on a charge of assault as the result of a fight at the Miers place Friday night.

About 8:50 o'clock, the sheriff's office was notified of the fight, said to have started when Burger put up an argument with Mrs. Miers. Ohrenburg stepped in to be the peacemaker, according to reports, and was attacked by Burger. It is alleged Burger tossed Ohrenburg to the ground and kicked him.

At the hospital it was found that Ohrenburg had a broken leg, above the left knee.

Burger was arrested by Sergeant James Cunningham and Trooper McLennon of the State Police on a warrant issued by Justice Walter Webber of the town of Ulster and was arraigned before him at Lake Katrine asked that his hearing be adjourned. The date was set for Tuesday afternoon, May 28, at 2 o'clock, and bail was fixed at $100.

Ohrenburg, formerly of 352 One Hundred Eighty-fourth street, Bronx, N. Y., had been at the Miers place only a few days.

KINGSTON'S FIRE LOSS

90 CENTS PER CAPITA

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy on Friday received a report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters which showed that the city's fire loss in 1934 was 90 cents per capita. During that year there were 291 fires in Kingston and the total insurance loss was $25,273. Newburgh's per capita cost was 81 cents; Poughkeepsie's per capita cost was $1.30 and Middletown's per capita cost was $2.34.

Presbyterian Changes

Akron, O., May 25 (AP).—Changes in the administration of the United Presbyterian Church will be made as a result of recommendations made to the 77th General Assembly here by a committee headed by Dr. A. R. Robinson of Pittsburgh. The committee recommended a general reorganization in administrative expenditures, including reduction of executive salaries and treasurer's centralized control of finances and centralization of the administrative board. A report showing an increase of 3,994 church members was submitted to the assembly.

More Than Half Y. W. C. A. Funds In; What K. H. S. Girls Think of Y. W. C. A.

There was a splendid attendance of workers at the third Y. W. C. A. campaign supper held at the Y. W. C. A. on Friday evening, $2,526 being posted on the bulletin board for the evening.

The tables looked particularly attractive with their bouquets of pink carnations and the supper, served so nicely by Girl Reserves was excellent. Mrs. George Newton Wood, president of the Y. W. C. A., presided.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemolen, pastor of the First Reformed Church. As usual the inspiring singing was led by Miss Ruth Bell, with Mrs. Richard at the piano. Announcement was made by Miss Bell that Mrs. August

Choirmaster Is Found With Young Girl Near Sangerties On Friday

Henry W. Simpson, 35 Years Old, Found With 13-Year-Old Choir Girl in Hut at Echo Hill, Ulster County.

IN JAIL HERE

Brought To Local Jail, Where They are Being Held For New York Authorities.

Henry W. Simpson, 35-year-old choirmaster of The Ascension Church, Brooklyn, wanted since May 10 for abducting 13-year-old Eleanor Schmaus, also of Brooklyn and a member of his choir, was taken into custody with her at Echo Hill, four miles from Sangerties, Friday night.

Patrolman John Keeley of the Sangerties police department and Sam Fluckiger and Charles Gilmore, two deputy sheriffs, found the two in a shack when they went to Echo Hill to check on information furnished by a man who had seen the man and girl as he passed near the shack in the afternoon.

Simpson at first was unwilling to talk about the girl, when questioned by the officers, but finally admitted that she was in the hut, one of four used for summer camping purposes. The police found her inside, dressed in overalls and a man's shirt.

The two lived in the place without any conveniences, the officers said, there being no furniture except a cot or couch. They were taken to Sangerties and then to the Ulster county jail to be held pending word from authorities at Brooklyn.

Miss Schmaus, daughter of a Brooklyn cigarmaker, Frank Schmaus, left a note for her father the day she went away with Simpson, stating, it is said, that she decided to "seek her own happiness" with Simpson.

After the arrest of Simpson, it was recalled that he and the girl had been seen in Sangerties several times. The man who observed them while walking through the woods, by reporting his find to the Sangerties police, ended the trail of the two, which the Brooklyn authorities were following.

Why he suspected them to be fugitives he did not say, but, evidently was attracted to the poor living conditions and the tender age of the girl.

The Kingston Police department played its part by finding out through the use of its teletype, the owner of the car used by Simpson, which was parked near the hut. The license number part of the information furnished to the Sangerties police by the man who reported that the two were in the woods.

William T. Blake of 4414 Sixty-fifth street, Woodside, L. I., owns the car. How Simpson came to have it could not be learned. It is a Chevrolet coach, 1930 model.

No sooner had the word been flashed to Brooklyn of the capture of Simpson than the Sheriff's office was deluged with questions from metropolitan newspapers and news agencies. Photographers were sent from New York's leading dailies to photograph the two. This was presented by Sheriff John H. Saxe. "I will not allow anyone to interview the prisoners," he said, "take any pictures," he said, "until the New York and Brooklyn authorities arrive."

The sheriff banned the newspapermen and photographers from the jail on a special request from the Bureau of Missing Persons, Brooklyn.

Greatest Naval Display In Its History Swarms Into Pearl Harbor Today

Performance of Harbor in Handling the Mighty Fleet Will Be Judged by Many High Naval Officials.

SMASHING CLIMAX

Mass Formation of VP10 Squadron, From Midway, Presages Arrival of Surface Craft.

Honolulu, May 25 (AP).—Roaring seaplanes sweeping in non-stop flight from Midway Island, 1,323 miles to the west, presaged the arrival here today of the greatest array of naval craft ever to visit this important cross roads of the Pacific.

Preceded by the navy's famous distance flying squadron VP10, 165 surface craft of the United States fleet moved on Pearl Harbor for an unprecedented test of the facilities of the $35,000,000 naval base.

Never before has such a concentration of naval craft been attempted in this Hawaiian shelter, which rests under the guns of the strongest American fortifications existing anywhere.

Because of its tremendous strategic importance to the United States in the event of war in the Pacific, the highest chiefs of the navy were either on hand or assembling to judge the performance of Pearl Harbor in harboring the mighty fleet.

The spectacular dash from Midway of squadron VP10, which won its laurels last year in an unprecedented mass flight from California to Hawaii, afforded a smashing climax to the navy's mid-Pacific war games. Preceded by 26 other planes, which moved in from Frigate Shoals, only 500 miles distant, the famous squadron of flying boats alighted safely on the waters of Pearl Harbor last night after a dash from Midway under personal command of Rear Admiral Alfred W. Johnson.

The flight was the first without stop over attempted in this mid-Pacific area.

Fighting brisk head winds all the way, the six planes alighted at 9:25 p. m. (2:55 a. m. eastern standard time, Saturday) after reporting to Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commander in chief of the fleet, by radio.

The squadron left Midway at 5:18 a. m. Friday (10:48 a. m. eastern standard time).

With the 26 planes which came on in advance from Frigate Shoals and eight others which remained on the shoals site until today, VP10 since May 9 has been engaged in extensive operations with the fleet west of here.

Aircraft officers already here while still bound to secrecy under orders from the high command, disclosed they had been through rigorous, wearing tests, often being requested to spend most of each day aloft.

There was no time for relaxation, they said, as the machine line efficiency which swept the fleet under Admiral Reeves spread also to them. With the first light of dawn they were generally always in the air, and sometimes there were trying night flights in connection with operations of the surface vessels.

County Highway Program Advanced By Republicans Defeated By Supervisors

Largest Peace-Time Naval Budget Given Approval

Washington, May 25 (AP).—The largest peace-time naval appropriation in America's history, totaling $460,000,000 and including funds to start construction on 24 new ships and build 555 new airplanes, probably will be sent to the White House within the next few days.

It was approved in the Senate yesterday, 55 to 18. The senators voted to include an item for shipbuilding which had been trimmed previously by the House. This made it necessary to send the measure to a committee of conferees representing both branches of Congress before it could be forwarded for the President's signature. Little opposition to the change made by the Senate was expected from the House conferees.

Senator Nye (R., N. D.), chairman of the munitions committee, failed in a last-minute attempt to amend the bill to give the comptroller authority to view all papers in connection with the letting of any contract for a naval vessel. It was explained that this amendment was designed to prevent shipyards from agreeing on the prices to be bid.

St. Mary's Church will be the scene of the celebration in honor of the 25th Anniversary of the ordination of the Very Rev. John J. Stanley, P. R. V. F., pastor of that church, and Dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, Sunday at the 11 o'clock Mass.

Although Dean Stanley was born in Port Ewen, he received his education in New York city. His early education was acquired in St. Michael's Parochial School. Then after graduation he continued his studies in St. Francis Xavier College. Upon the completion of his course there, he entered Dunwoodie Seminary, and was ordained with the class of 1910 on May 21.

His first appointment was to St. Raymond's Church, where for two years he was associated with the Catholic Protector. He was then transferred to Our Lady of Solace Church, where under the pastorate of the then Father Curley, later Bishop of Syracuse, he ministered to the people of this parish for 15 years. In 1927, he was appointed pastor of the Church of St. John and Mary at Chappaque, and he remained there until September 16, 1932, when he received his appointment as pastor of St. Mary's and Dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

In Kingston he is known independently of his pastoral office for his work in the Benedictine Hospital, he being president of that institution. He has shown a keen interest in his affiliation with the Knights of Columbus, being Faithful Friar of the Fourth Degree, and Chaplain of the Third Degree Knights.

At the Mass Dean Stanley will be assisted by the two priests who assisted him at his first Mass 25 years ago. The deacon of the Mass will be the Rev. Aloysius C. Dineen, pastor of Holy Innocents Church, New York city, and the sub-deacon will be the Rev. David W. Petry, of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, New York city, a former associate in his work in the Bronx. The Rev. John J. Caldwell, will be master of ceremonies. The sermon on this occasion will be delivered by The Right Rev. Joseph H. McMahon, Ph. D., LL.D., pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, New York city.

On Monday morning at nine o'clock, the children of the parish will celebrate with their pastor by assisting at the solemn high Mass, which will be offered by him. Immediately after the Mass, an entertainment will be presented in his honor by the children of St. Mary's School.

Program Anticipating $103,599.05 Expenditure Rejected By Party Vote of 16 to 16, McDowell, Democrat, Being Absent.

MEET NEXT FRIDAY

Democrats Claim That Program Was Not Submitted in Time For Committee Consideration.

A county road construction and maintenance program for 1935 offered by Supervisors Pine, Rowe and Elsworth at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Supervisors Friday evening was defeated when the Republican side of the house was able to muster but 16 votes, while the Democratic side of the house had a similar number of votes. The 17th man of the majority party, Tuthill McDowell, was confined to his home by reason of injuries which he suffered in an automobile accident earlier in the week. The program offered by the Republican members of the board met defeat with a tie vote.

This program anticipated the expenditure of $103,599.05 which was the unappropriated balance on hand on May first in the County Road Fund in the county treasurer's office. This sum of $103,599.05 includes the sum of $50,000 heretofore raised by 1934 tax levy.

In addition to the $103,599.05 balance, the program of construction and maintenance as advanced by the minority party, called for the expenditure of the sum of $26,718.43, the estimated sum of Ulster county's share of Motor Vehicle money; the anticipated sum of $93,910.74 from Gas Tax and the sum of $48,629.10 due the county under the Lowman Act. This would have provided the total sum of $272,848.38 for highway construction and maintenance for the year. Of this amount the sum of $90,000 was apportioned by the resolution for maintenance work. The resolution also provided that in anticipation of receipt of money from the gas tax for the last quarter of the year that the county treasurer be empowered to borrow the sum of $25,000.

The following roads were named in the resolution under 320-b for construction and improvement in 1935:

Supervisor Elsworth who presented the resolution and program stated that the program was one which he considered fair and had been drawn up on the recommendation of the County Superintendent of Highways. The adoption of the program he said would permit the starting of work now.

First Attack on Program

The first attack on the program was made by Supervisor George Denning, a member of the Highway Committee, who said the $222,000 plan "would be of interest to the taxpayers of the county. He said that he felt the sponsors of the program were not acquainted with the roads of the county for which they asked appropriations and that the usual custom was to have the highway officials offer a plan. The Highway Committee had not been able to do this he said because the maps and plans had not been turned over to the board by the County Superintendent until about 5 o'clock when the board was about to meet and he said that he felt the majority party probably felt that before a program was adopted it should be given some consideration.

In reply Mr. Elsworth said he understood the majority party had called a caucus early in the week to make up a program. The Highway officials he said had no power under section 320-b and the power of the highway officials was limited to section 320-a. His understanding of the meeting Friday evening of the board he said had been that it was called for the purpose of adopting a road program for the season. No demand had been made by the Democratic members of the board on the County Superintendent of Highways for data or a plan or program. Since the majority party had failed to ask the County Superintendent of Highways for a program, it was on the recommendation of the County Superintendent that the present program

WIFE

4. Mrs. Will Rogers
Mrs. William Penn Odair Rogers is called "Mother" by the comedian. It fits her not only because she has three children but because she mothers Will. Betty Blake became Mrs. Rogers 26 years ago. She has nothing to do with Will's business affairs, except in an advisory capacity. She seldom sees his mail unless something amusing or interesting is in it. "Mother" assists in entertaining the many celebrities who visit the Rogers ranch in Santa Monica canyon. She is described as a perfect hostess. Only about half the time accompanies her husband to numerous banquets he attends as a speaker. She personally looks after his few clothes. She sees that his newspapers and periodicals are in their proper places. Neither she nor Will likes parties. She attends only those where Will's presence is necessary. Two or three evenings every week they go alone to a picture show.

How much does it cost to raise a chicken until he is 20 weeks old? For farmers who keep cost accounts with the New York state college of agriculture, the average total cost for each pullet or cockerel raised is $1.23, says P. J. Finden of the department of agricultural economics. Allowing credit for broilers, the net cost for each bird raised was 92 cents. The cost may vary from year to year; the figures given are for 1931-33.

SHOOTING MYSTERY DEEPENS

Daniel Shaw, Chinese student, at Northwestern Oklahoma Teachers college, is shown conferring with a Chinese consul before the trial of Lois Thompson, who is charged with shooting Shaw. New mystery entered the case when Lois Thompson, Lois' sister, was accused of writing Lois "extortion" notes which allegedly caused her to shoot her fellow-student. (Associated Press Photo)

'COWBOY' HAT FOR LEGION CHIEF

A real memento of his visit to Cheyenne was the "10-gallon western" hat presented Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., national American Legion commander, by Cheyenne legionnaires. FREE GASOLINE FROM 'LAKE'

By drilling only 28 feet, scores of Los Angeles residents got free fuel from a gasoline "lake" near the city until authorities forced them to stop because of the fire hazard. V. Hernandez is shown above bailing gasoline from the underground pool, believed filled by a refinery leak three miles away. (Associated Press Photo)

FROG FARMING NOT
PAYING "INDUSTRY"Bureau of Fisheries Skeptical
About Success.

Washington.—One of the earliest harbingers of spring is the clack and rattle of tiny frog voices from wayside brooks and marshes. Students in nature-study classes go forth to skim jellylike frog's eggs from woodland ponds and bring them back for the school aquarium. Then someone always suggests: "Frog legs bring good prices at restaurants, and the skins are used in making book covers and fine glue. Why not start a frog farm?"

"Frog farming has been tried in both Louisiana and Wisconsin, but it is not yet a paying 'industry,'" says the National Geographic society. "Recently the New York state department of conservation warned investors to be on their guard following the publication of commercial circulars urging people to go into the business of raising frogs for the market. The United States bureau of fisheries likewise is skeptical, declaring 'success in artificial propagation on a commercial scale still awaits realization.' It should be kept in mind also that it requires from four to five years for a frog, whose legs are edible, to reach adult size."

Frogs' Eggs Absorb Water.

"A female frog may lay as many as 240 eggs," says a communication to the National Geographic society from Doris M. Cochran. "The eggs are deposited in small masses on water plants or on sticks or leaves lying in shallow water. An egg consists of the yolk—the round black center—and the vitelline envelope—the surrounding transparent membrane—which begins to absorb water as soon as the egg is laid, and thus immediately swells to several times its original size."

"Under favorable conditions, the tadpole hatches on the fourth day. At first it is a minute, flattened, yellowish object, with conspicuous branching filaments, its gills, at one end and a course, rudimentary appendage, the tail at the other."

"The little creature at this stage can barely wriggle from its cast-off envelope, to squirm upward to the surface of the water, where it instinctively seeks the shelter of foliage and of the shallow water; for at this stage it easily becomes the prey of small fish and other ever-hungry enemies."

"Its powers of locomotion are very limited, and it is unable to dart and dodge in the game of life and death, as it will have to do when it is a little older. It grows rapidly, at first living upon the nutriment from the original yolk-sac now stored in its own abdomen."

"In a few days, when its mouth parts have begun to develop, it plucks the 'scum' of green algae which forms a dense mat over every submerged stone or pebble in the stagnant pond."

"Before the tadpole is many weeks old a pair of budlike growths sprouts near the base of the tail, and shortly these elongate into a pair of hind legs."

equipped with five toes, which closely resemble those of the adult.

"Some days after the legs appear, the right arm comes out. Now the little tadpole stays near the top of the water nearly all the time and seems very uncomfortable, and no wonder. His left arm is developing just where the breathing pore is located. As soon as it bursts through, his troubles are lessened, for now he can hop out on the bank in true frog fashion and breathe the air freely; for, as we have seen, his nostrils have been functioning for some time as air-breathing organs."

"At the approach of the sharp autumn weather he is about half an inch in length and half-grown. While he has no voice as yet, the mating call of his elders may occasionally be heard in the pool as late as September, for frogs are active over a long period of the year and the breeding season may be said to last from April to September, reaching a peak at several different times, as warm weather and heavy rainfall favor it."

"At the onset of winter everything is silent, but with sleep, not death. Near the borders of the pond, buried under logs and stones in the mud, the little frogs have begun hibernation for the winter. A wise provision of Nature slows down their life processes to suit them to this complete inactivity and apparent inaction."

"In their summer activity, more than a few moments' enforced submergence in water would have drowned them. Now, in hibernation, they can pass a whole winter beneath the mud because they are not breathing."

Built Railroad System

for Son, Father Claims

Springfield, Mo.—Earl Riggs, an automobile mechanic, says he built a miniature railroad—complete with two trains, block signals, station, tunnel, bridge and even a farm along the "right of way" for his son Joe—but his friends don't believe him.

They say he gets as much fun out of playing with his home-made "railroad system" as his son does and they say also he built the contraption because he had got so much pleasure out of playing with Joe's toy electric train.

It took Riggs three weeks to build the lay-out.

"Of course, I built the 'system' for my son Joe," Riggs explained.

"You may have," Mrs. Riggs says, "but you run it yourself most of the time."

Groundhog Great Benefactor

The groundhog, or woodchuck, throughout the year, is a great benefactor of the skunks, rabbits, ground squirrels, field rats, etc., notes a writer in the Indianapolis News. He tunnels the earth everywhere, and is a much better digger than they. His abandoned dens make homes for other creatures, less able or too lazy to dig them. There was a time when wolves and wildcats made life hazardous for the groundhog. The fox, dog, and man are about his only enemies now. He will run to his den, or dig in, when danger threatens; but he will fight viciously if cornered, and his sharp front teeth are good weapons.

Rosoff Presents Night
Boat Line to His Son

Samuel R. Rosoff, noted subway contractor who bought the Hudson River Night Line some time ago for the sum of $100,000 cash, has presented the line to his son, Nathaniel, who will operate the fleet, according to a statement made by the elder Rosoff. Young Rosoff's title will be vice president in charge of operations and it carries with it the job of building up traffic on the Hudson and management of the fleet of three steamers. A few years ago the ships and property of the company was valued at $2,000,000.

The boats in operation have a capacity of 6,500 passengers. The line owns the Berkshire, Trojan, Fort Orange and the Rensselaer. The Fort Orange is laid up at Athens but young Rosoff plans to rebuild it and equip it with modern facilities and place it in commission. Thus far $150,000 has been spent in remodeling and reconditioning the Rensselaer, Berkshire and Trojan. Running water, new wharves in modern style and entertainment and music will be added to the boats which ply the Hudson in an effort to re-establish this once prosperous business.

Presentation of the line to young Rosoff was made at Albany on arrival of the first up-river trip of the Rensselaer this year when the Rosoffs made an inspection trip.

Light an Old Gold

WE'RE READY TO ADMIT that an Old Gold may not improve your tennis or golf. But smokers do say this pleasant cigarette does help to make a fellow feel at his best. Call it a general "pick-me-up," if you like. We think it's the amiable influence of the mildest and finest tobacco that Nature grows.

Smoking BUT NEVER BEATING

Saturday Social Review

Willcock Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its annual Memorial Day service Sunday, May 26. The members of the chapter are requested to meet in the vestibule of the church at 10:45 o'clock so that the association may attend in a body.

At the regular morning service Mrs. Benjamin Johnston will sing "The Flag," the words of which were written by Mrs. Russell William Magnus, retiring president general of the D. A. R., and set to music by Mrs. Mildred Burr Schluter, a New York state daughter. The memorial service will follow the church service and the Rev. Arthur Oudemool will give a brief address while the Daughters and those who wish to pay homage to the heroes of the American Revolution are gathered in the churchyard. Besides the regular patriotic hymns given at this time, the Daughters will sing "Unto Thee, Oh God of Our Fathers," both the words and music of which were composed by Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth, founder and first president of the Willcock Chapter. The graves of the Revolutionary soldiers who are buried in the church yard will be marked with flags and decorated with red geraniums. This work has been carried out by Mrs. Harry Edsel assisted by members of the Boy Scout troop. Irving Wood will lead the singing at the graves while tape will be sounded by a bugler from the American Legion.

On Thursday, June 6, the Mothers' Association of the Academy of St. Ursula will hold their annual bridge and lawn party on the academy grounds. The party as it is now being planned will be similar to the very delightful affair held last year with cards during both the afternoon and evening and a supper served from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. There will also be the usual booths where one may secure flowers, baked goods and refreshments. For any younger members who may attend there will be a special entertainment. Mrs. John Cannon has appointed the following committees to work with her in preparing for this social event.

Mrs. John Cordis, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Mullen will act as co-chairmen in arranging the afternoon card party. They will be assisted by Mrs. Viola Babcock, Mrs. Eugene Carey, Mrs. Bernard Forst, and Mrs. John J. Cuff. The evening cards are being arranged for by co-chairmen, Mrs. Leonard Kane, Mrs. John Sangaline and Mrs. Timothy J. Donovan, assisted by Mrs. M. J. Weisaupt, Mrs. Michael Altamare, Mrs. Victor Russo, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. John Garavan and Mrs. John A. Weber. A booth which always attracts much comment is the flower booth. This year it is in charge of Mrs. Walter Miller, Jr., and Mrs. Richard Dawe, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Harris Inglis and Mrs. Raymond Craft. The cake booth where homemade cakes and other baked goods may be secured is being arranged by Mrs. Sidney Marks, chairman, with Mrs. James Feyer, Mrs. Raymond Schuler and Mrs. Martin J. Brogan as her committee. Soft drinks, ice cream or milk may be bought at a stall which is being managed by Mrs. Christopher Tierney and Mrs. Catherine Berg, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. James Welsh, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb assisted by two members of the student body. Miss Mary Louise Dutton and Miss Anna Helen Brogan, is arranging for children's entertainment. Candy will also be sold at this booth. Supper arrangements are being made by Mrs. John E. Weber assisted by Mrs. John McCabe, Mrs. Michael J. Powers, Mrs. John Healy and Mrs. John E. Troy.

The first of the summer season dances to be held by the Willcock Golf Club at their clubhouse on the Hurley road will be given this evening. Music will be furnished by Ray Randall and his orchestra and dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. will hold a covered dish supper next Wednesday evening. This meeting, at which time officers for the coming year will be chosen, is being celebrated as past presidents' night with an entertainment of music and readings. Mrs. Robert Nelson of Hurley accompanied by Mrs. William Ellings will give a group of solo selections. Miss Ruth Bell and Miss Margaret Howe will give a duet. While Mrs. Edwin Engell will give a reading. The program is being arranged by Miss Bertha Waterman, while Miss Ruth Bell has charge of supper arrangements.

The Ulster Garden Club met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley of St. Remy. At this time a number of the club arranged a display of miniature gardens which they themselves had made. Those displaying gardens were Mrs. George Hutton, Mrs. George Washburn, Mrs. Rutgers Hurry, Mrs. Henry L. Bibby, Mrs. Edward V. Wilbur and Miss Isabelle Overbaugh. Honors were awarded to the displays of Mrs. Overbaugh and Mrs. Wilbur. The gardens displayed by the former was a pea plant, officious arrangement, while Mrs. Wilbur showed a miniature formal Italian garden. Honorable mention was also given to George Van Deusen Hutton, Jr., who had contributed a pool arrangement with green and granite. Herbert Cutler of Valentin Burgin, Jr., entered a bottle garden as a professional display. Following the judging of these miniature gardens, Mrs. William Lawton spoke concerning wild flowers, while Mrs. Kelley explained the best methods of securing cuttings from ferns, coral, shells and double ferns. Tea was then served. Mrs. William A. Warren and Miss Beanie Schneider presided. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles Greenwood and Mrs. Arthur of Stockbridge, N. Y., Mrs. William Fanning of Ovid, N. Y., Mrs. William Rodie and Miss Beanie Schneider of New York city and Mrs. Townsend Cassidy of Newburgh.

OFFICE CAT

The boy sat in the rumble seat, his head was in a whirl; his eyes and mouth were full of hair, his arms were full of girl.

A man and his wife were driving along a lovely country road. They had just had a spat. A mule brayed.

He—One of your relatives?
She—Yes, by marriage.

Convincing a girl in love that she is not old enough to marry is like trying to make an intoxicated person understand he is not fit to drive a car.

Friend—Yes, I find the same objections to the new model car that I did to last year's.

Man—What is that?
Friend—I can't afford to get it.

The old customs were better. Nobody made you take to the ditch because he had a heavy wagon.

A guy who makes us see red... is Benny.
He uses his horn instead of his head... If any.

Creditor—You couldn't ride around in a costly automobile like that if you paid your honest debts.
Debtor—That's so. I'm glad you look at it in the same light I do.

The most monotonous tune generally comes from the person who is always blowing his own horn.

Woman (learning to drive)—But I don't know what to do!
Her husband—Just imagine that I'm driving.

When we see all the good and are blind to the bad;
When we hear all the gay and are deaf to the sad;
When we smile all the while though fortune may frown;
When we hold out a hand to those who are down,
We're depositing blessings in the bank of God's love—
Blessings that double and triple ere long.
And replace unshed tear-drops with laughter and song.

One woman who has recently taken off several pounds is to spend her vacation at home this summer. Travel, someone told her, is so broadening.

Friend (to editor of rural weekly)—Why did you stop publishing your paper?

Editor (with a look of sadness and regret)—What was the use of trying to publish any news when the goasps had broadcast it all before I could get it into print?

Who's Been Peeping?
There is a slip 'twixt cup and lip
'Tis said, and the girls confess
That's also all there is
'Twixt skin and outside dress.

Customer—Have I the pleasant expression you require?
Photographer—Perfectly, sir.
Customer—Then shoot quick. It hurts my face.

The remarkable thing about these modern long novels is that anybody could use so many words to say so little.

George—Your mother gave you a spanking last night, didn't she?
Freddie—Yes, when a fellow gets into trouble there is always a woman in the case.

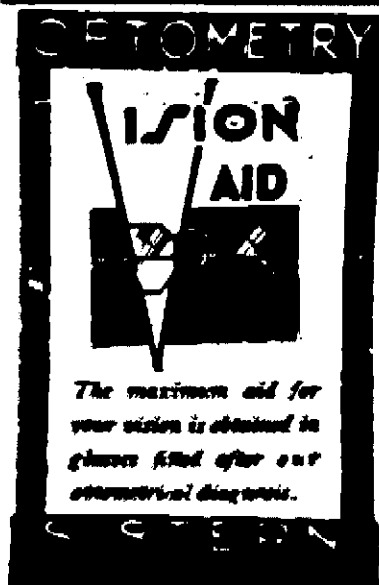

When a man is down his enemies stop kicking him and his friends begin.

Man—I see that they are cutting down the quality of food at banquets.
Friend—Pretty soon the dinner will be down to the level of the after-dinner speeches.

Puff's head is now spinning; his nerves are quite shaken because of the very great risk he has taken.
"It just goes to show," cry the ranchers in glee.
"That Puff is modest as modest can be."

GAS BUGGIES—Overdoing it.

For Better Cakes

Chocolate or spice cakes can be enriched by addition of chopped dates, raisins, figs or nuts.

The birthday cake idea can be carried out by serving individual cakes daintily frosted and tiny candies (lighted, of course) inserted just before served.

A fourth teaspoon oil of peppermint added to your regular white frosting recipe makes a good topping chocolate cake. Rather a popular combination of flavors too.

A CHEESE AND BREAD IDEA FOR THAT AFTERNOON PARTY

For the afternoon beverage party the housewife is always seeking a favorable novelty, and cheese is willing to be used in many different ways.

Here is one that will certainly please.
Take one pound of old fashioned, ordinary American cheese and grate it. Then add a dash of your favorite sauce to the grated cheese together with about half the contents of a small-sized bottle of ketchup. Stir until you have a nice paste.

Use two loaves of square white bread—or half the amount of the mixture given if you think one loaf will be sufficient.

Cut off the crusts and then cut the bread in lengthwise slices. Dampen these slices in a wet cloth and spread with the mixture. After this roll them. Then cut to size desired, toast and serve piping hot.

A teaspoonful of sugar will improve the taste of canned peas.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1618-B

Casual Two-Piece Dress for Summer or Fall

Spirited three-cornered pockets trim the poplin-bouise of the dress illustrated today.
Little three-cornered tabs flash the square neckline, and repeat the detail of the pockets, an interesting note on an otherwise unadorned blouse. The poplin is slit in front and back, making it flare very slightly, an effect much liked in this season's two-piece frocks.

Sleeves, puffed below the elbow, are tremendously popular, very becoming, and much at home in this model. The skirt has an inverted pleat in back and front, providing the desired fullness.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1618-B comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 (34) requires 4½ yards of 3½ inch material.

MODES of the moment

It's colorful relief—this jacket for a white sports frock.
Liana Marwin

White will be here, there and everywhere this summer with colorful accents a new note in the way of jackets, scarfs, bows, girdles and contrasting trimming effect to stimulate otherwise dead white costumes. With vacation time on our heels, practical frocks are foremost in mind and nothing could serve the purpose better than a smart jacket ensemble with reliable qualities. Another point in favor of these jackets is that the jacket can be worn singly with other frocks making many quick changes possible. The ensemble sketched above shows a one-piece shirtwaist dress of washable white crepe combined with a jacket in colorful printed design.

The sporty dress has patch pockets, cap sleeves, square pearl buttons, a self-belt and roomy high pleats. These tailored styles are well liked by the smartly groomed woman whether she travels or stays at home.

The jacket of finger-tip length is printed in multi-color flower design. It hangs free and is worn open with a matching detached scarf which is worn on the dress as trimming when the jacket is removed.

Softly Frieded Tater-tots

If you have broiled potatoes or tater-tots or potato chips, fry them in a little oil to give them a crisp edge.

all around with small, close-together hand or machine stitches. This will keep the taters from curling and raveling.

It's easy to slip on, easy to launder and wear, etc.

And now would you believe it, it plays another role? You can slip it over a bathing suit and when you're ready, shed it like a cocoon skin and take your dip.

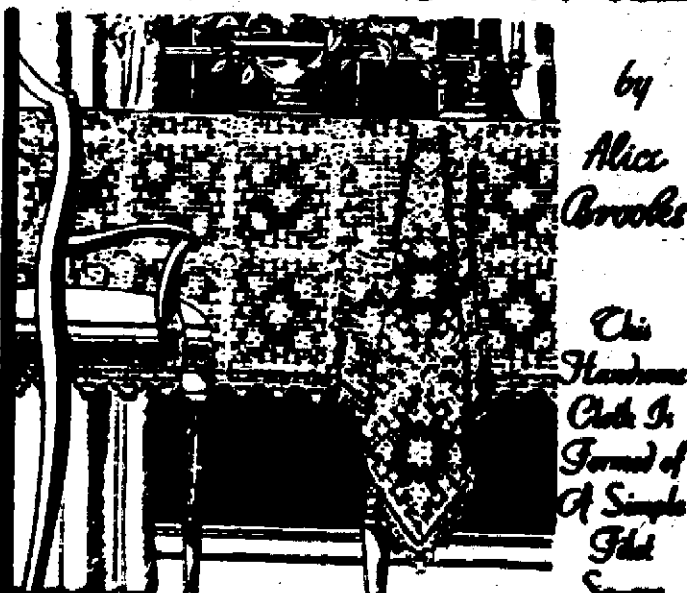

While the original was aqua and navy blue spongy cotton, glazed chintz would also be darling for it.

Style No. 3264 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inches bust. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 39-inch contrast.

Chic Handmade Cloth Is Formed of A Simple Flat Square

PATTERN 3193

Let beauty transform your home! Fulfill that urge for lovely accents in your dining room by making this striking cover in flat creased cloth. It's just squares put together and that makes it the sort of pick-up work that's bound to go places with you. You'll find the squares getting done very quickly for the design is a simple and open one. Of course, you can make scarfs and pillows and other lovely accessories of the square, too. But that dinner cloth will surely call forth a chorus of approval.

In pattern 3193 you will find complete instructions for making the square shown; an illustration of it, of the stitches needed; material requirements.

Apples and Cranberry Sauce

Baked apples stuffed with cranberry sauce is a pretty sauce for hot pork or veal. Add sauce (continued) after apples are baked.

A Nutritious Sandwich

Cream cheese makes a good filling for orange bread sandwiches. This is a nutritious sandwich and can be used for school lunch boxes.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

Many New Combinations Are Shown In Summer Modes

By BARBARA BELL

Start the summer with a good-looking jacket frock and you will find yourself equipped with the most practical costume of the season.

If you are spending a good bit of time in the city, it ought to be sheer and with rather formal ideas about sleeves. One smart version seen repeatedly adds a short sleeveless jacket to a frock with full three-quarter sleeves hugged in at the wrists with bands or elastic. In addition, there are the cap-shouldered types which are newly acceptable for town on a very hot day, and perfect in the suburbs, as well.

A hip-length, open-front jacket with the new triangle pockets Paris is so fond of tops a simple one-piece frock with pointed yoke treatment and extended shoulders. It is suggested in a flowered handkerchief linen with darker plain linen trim. Another effective fashion would be the use of twin flower prints in the same sheer linen—yellow ground for the dress and berry red for the jacket, or a reversal of these colors if you prefer the equally smart light-over-dark combination.

Sheer cottons have never been smarter, and now that many of them are processed against excess shrinkage and easy wrinkling, they are doubly practical. Printed dimities are having the best style season in years. You will find them in neat all-over effects, moderately spaced florals and quaint old fashioned designs—newest of all in lilac or Du-bonnet red on white grounds. Watch out for dots, too, particularly those irregular in shape and those which combine two or three sizes in one design.

Printed lawns come in dark ground prints with all-over white patterns of the scroll or leaf type. In this crisp category are also the printed nets which sponsor small conventional patterns on black, brown or navy grounds. The plain jacket, printed frock combination continues important. Interesting hot-weather ideas team up plain soft rose over printed yellow, navy over a navy and yellow print, plain light red over hyacinth blue with red and white stripes bow and belt to trim, also ruby over a plaid print which repeats a touch of the jewel tone in the trimming.

Those casual little frocks that form the biggest part of the print parade do duty all day long. You can't have too many of them to help you combat a rising thermometer. And side by side with the prints are the woven checks, stripes and plaids. They're much too important to be missed.

The shirtwaist frock gets a rousing vote of thanks for its adaptability to printed crepes and cottons. For their down-the-front closings, fashion has rediscovered the chic pearl buttons, with the happy result that we're seeing them once more in white, pastels and even smoked varieties. Some of them are scalloped like the flowers; others are star-shaped; and still others are silver dollar size with big holes through which ribbon laciings fasten them to the frock.

Very rough noli silk or shantung in white and a bright shade make an attractive foil for a washable crepe. Or you might use plain glazed chintz in a two-color scheme—which is even newer. White organdie collar and cuffs are charming on a sheer cotton print with a wide bright kid belt and buttons to match. White flowers with waxy green leaves make the cluster pinned at the shoulder. Frocks like these impel sports shoes to take to the colors. The two-toned pump of Oxford boasts more white than usual this season, but instead of being limited to the classic black or brown for contrast, reds, bright greens, navy and wine are much in the picture. Colored laces are ultra smart for the all-white shoe.

String-knit gloves are especially good in pastels, this season. Be sure to own a pair of the short ones which are folded back to make a roll at the wrist, and fastened at the back of the hand with a white clip. (Copyright, 1935, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Frilly Commencement Frocks Useful In Summer Wardrobes

Charm and utility are combined in these two frocks for June graduates, for not only will they see the young ladies through commencement but also prove an important addition to the summer wardrobe. On the left, an embroidered organza with short puff sleeves, a shawl collar and a full hem of mousseline. The girl with the diploma wears a dotted net with huge sleeves and a very full, circular skirt. The clip at the neck and buckle of her self-belt are rhinestone.

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER

New York, (AP)—Misty, be-frilled white frocks are back in fashion this year for commencement, but ultra-simple ones also are being shown, for some of the girls refuse to wear ruffles.

"I want nothing to do with ruffles," a school stylist quoted one of her young patrons, "and I don't like big sleeves. Make it plainer."

Summer Dances In Mind.

The frilliest gowns are being chosen by tall, slender girls with pretty faces. Girls who go in for sports favor plain, practical styles, and are trying to sneak "action-back" frocks into the commencement procession, because they can wear them later on the golf course.

The tendency now is to think of post-commencement occasions when buying graduation frocks. Many girls buy with summer dances in mind, and choose a dress that has a little jacket.

Simplicity seems to be the keyword of girl-graduate fashions. Even the most feminine frocks are unsophisticated, and their only trimming is a tier of ruffles, a little bouquet of flowers or a plain light-colored sash.

Puffed sleeves, or ruffles at the top of a bare arm, are seen on these gowns. They have plain round necks, and sometimes a plain narrow belt instead of a sash. Skirts are ankle length, and fit the hips smoothly, growing wider toward the hem.

The charm of the dress is mainly in its material. Dainty dotted nets, filmy chiffons, crisp organdy and mousseline—sometimes with a flower print in the fabric or with aingham check—give the frock its vaporous air.

Caps and Gowns Used.

Dotted Swiss and fine checked dimities are used in some of the most youthful gowns. The dress may have one flounce at the bottom, a corded hem, a deep panel of ruffles, or frills in pointed insets.

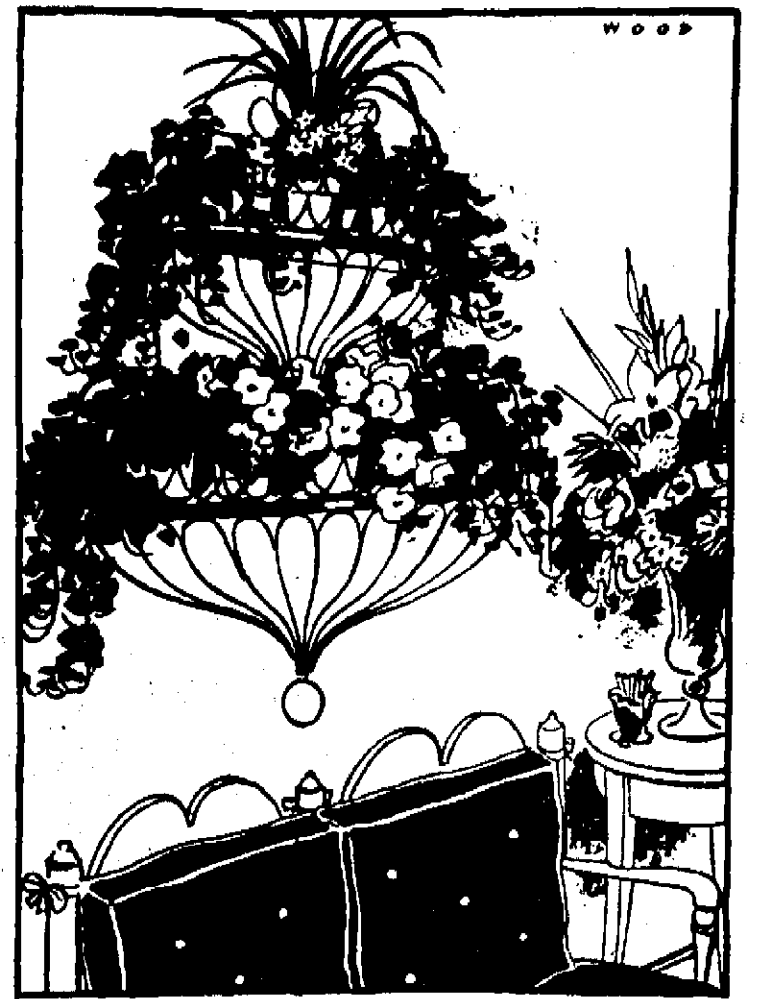

Stylists say that although caps and gowns will be more widely used this year than ever before, the ruffled white commencement frock will always be with us.

A Paris Idea Of Cool Chic

This is Greed's idea of a smart costume for keeping cool in warm weather. It comes straight from his Paris dressmaker collection. A jacket of white pique whose seams are edged in navy blue linen is worn with a navy blue linen frock with a blue and white striped top. The hat designed by Rose Valois is of white straw edged in navy blue lace.

Indoor "Gardens" Gain Popularity And Clever New Holders Appear

Tiered, semi-circular shelves suit trailing ivy.

By MARGERY TAYLOR

Copyright, 1935, by McCall's Magazine for Kingston Daily Freeman.

Living green things have more than ever become a decorative necessity—but since most people like them that way, the decorators did not have to work hard to make them fashionable.

Even the scorned rubber plant has become smart and found its place in the modern style living room. Cactus in its many forms is, of course, very modern; and the huge green leaves of philodendron (against cork bark background) in white pottery makes a fascinating mantel.

The new plant mode has been stimulated by the clever new ways of expressing it and the clever new gadgets for holding plants.

The vogue for painted iron and wire has produced hanging shelves for rows of small plants. One set—tiered and semi-circular—shelves with lacy wire galleries—is perfect for trailing ivy. Other shelves give the impression of growing up the walls, with pots of flowers branching in all directions. Some shelves—high or low—are designed for use in front of windows, and are painted white, dusky pink, crocus yellow or apple green. Painted metal pots fit into the wire holders.

Woven wire filled with greens has a Victorian charm for living room, dining room or bedroom—but it is certainly perfect in any sun room or terrace setting.

With the newly favored classic modern fluted pedestals, nothing is more effective than the beautifully striped snake grass.

Even the furniture is being designed to hold flowers. For example, there is one smart little end table in walnut with a sunken metal-lined well in the center, for short-stemmed bouquets.

The Petunia Garden Favorite

Petunias are one of the most faithful of all the garden annuals for producing beautiful masses of color, even under most unfavorable circumstances. Seed may be sown in the open ground in the spring and by midsummer there will be a fine show which will increase in beauty until freezing weather arrives. For edgings along paths, for masses in the garden or in the border or for window boxes or pots on porches it is a certain success and always elicits admiration.

These have many fine developments in the small flowering types particularly in the rich blue purple colors of velvety texture and in the dark reds. They require only a sunny position and good soil and will stand a lot of heat and drought which would finish many other annuals. A soaking or rain brings them back in a hurry.

In the large flowered, fringed and ruffled strains are some of the most magnificent flowers that can be grown. They are not as free blooming as the small flowered bedding types by any means, but a small plant with one or two of the large, beautifully fringed and marked blooms quite makes up for the lack of numbers of blooms. They are magnificent as summer pot plants for porches.

The balcony strain has leaped into great popularity. It is large flowered and also free flowering with long trailing branches that make it ideal for porch and window boxes the long branches being studded with the large blooms in blue, rose, white and crimson. It is indispensable for porch boxes in sunny situations. The double petunias, which were favorite old-time house plants, are beautiful for bedding or for window and porch boxes.

Sow seed thinly in a shaded seed bed, merely pressing it into the soil. Be sure to keep the bed moist until germination begins. As soon as the tiny plants are large enough to handle transplant them to their permanent quarters. They will make rapid growth as the weather warms.

FLOWERED GEORGETTE

Paris (AP)—The Duchess de Montelane is among smart continentalers who are wearing flowered georgette tailcoats this spring. She has a black model printed with multi-colored flowers and worked all over the background with black paillettes. With it goes a blouse of green georgette.

Saving One's Neck

London (AP)—Beach capes to protect the back of the neck from the sun hang straight down the back. A band around the neck lies in front. The inside of the cape is lined with bright colors; the outside matches the bathing suit.

It's Cool Bag Set Nos. 3712-3713

Look to your accessories if you want to capsize and distinguish your outfit. Their correctness is stressed more than ever this season. This smart French Breton Sailor Hat with Bag to match is specially designed for the young girl or matron. Note the band of the hat which is in complete accord with the pattern of the bag. A very effective color combination is medium green clove with white and black. For the printed directions to duplicate this garment, send stamped self-addressed envelope to Editor, Woman's Page, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

FOR CAPES WORN FOR EVENING WRAPS

Paris (AP)—For capes are a big favorite in evening wraps this spring. The Duchess d'Angoulême wears one of chin-chilla, while Madame Arlan finally has one of marlin draped on a brown mousseline background. One of the most striking wraps in the midseason collections now being shown is a hip-length cape coat of white foyes mounted on satin. It has elbow length sleeves.

Flower Buttons Used

Paris (AP)—Gay novelty buttons which look like wax flowers under glass give a smart touch to a spring tailcoat which the Countess Charles de Polignac wears. The model is of black wool accompanied by a white pique vest which is fastened with the flower buttons.

Tri-Colorful Garments

London (AP)—The latest jubilee slacks have red, white and blue stripes.

Growing Dahlias

By The Master Gardener

To me the dahlia is one of the most interesting of flowers. It hails from Mexico and its evolution from the time it was first discovered by the old Spaniards to its present-day loveliness seems almost miraculous—though of course it's merely a matter of careful, painstaking breeding.

The dahlia lends itself to so many uses. The cream of its bloom comes in fall when bloom in the garden is beginning to fade. That's probably why this beautiful flower plays such an important part in my gardening scheme. When I consider the comparative ease with which good dahlia blooms can be grown I often wonder why they aren't more prevalent.

You can plant dahlia tubers any time after the soil has become warm and danger of frost is past. It is usually best to plant them between May 15 and June 15. Some folks stagger their plantings in order to prolong the blooming period of their dahlias. Dahlias, like roses, must be planted in well-drained soil. With this one provision, most any soil will produce satisfactory results provided the plants are fed regularly with a complete plant food that supplies all of the eleven elements plants must get from the soil. Let me warn you not to rely on unbalanced fertilizers, such as manures, bone meal and incomplete chemical mixtures. An unbalanced feeding program is apt to result in rank stalk growth at the expense of luxuriant bloom.

You'll not be troubled with unbalanced growth if you feed the plants a small handful of complete plantfood (containing all eleven elements) at planting time and every ten days after the buds appear. In planting the tuber, lay it on its side and cover with a little soil to which plant food has not been added. Then cover with four to six inches of soil that has been mixed with plant food.

Cultivate often, but after the buds appear, give only very shallow and light cultivation, as the new roots may be injured.

To secure best blooms, permit only the most hardy shoot to remain, and when this is three to four joints above the ground, pinch out the top, which causes the plant to branch out. Unless the soil is very dry, it is not advisable to water dahlias at all until they start to bloom. When watering is necessary, soak thoroughly to a depth of 8 or 10 inches. If the plants have been cultivated regularly the mulch developed will conserve moisture to a great extent.

NEWLYWEDS ON RELIEF

NUMBER 26 IN DULUTH

Duluth, Minn. (AP)—No less than 26 newlyweds were discovered during an investigation of approximately 100 new relief cases, reports the St. Louis county poor commission.

One "enterprising" young man earned $30 shoveling snow during February, used the money to get married and pay a month's house rent. Then he applied for relief.

Grass Spots On Floor

In order to take out grass spots from a floor, sprinkle first with dry soda, then drip boiling water over the soda. Let this all stand for a while—all the spots will obligingly disappear.

Scarlet Gleam, A Vivid Orange, Another Gorgeous Nasturtium

Scarlet Gleam Nasturtium.

Nasturtiums are staging a comeback in garden favor. For half a century prior to the World War the two flowers most widely planted in American gardens were sweet peas and nasturtiums. Seeds of these flowers were hoarded in bulk by dealers who had no other flower seeds.

When flower gardening began to revive following the war, nasturtiums seemed to have ground in popularity. No doubt there was shift to other subjects by gardeners who wanted something new. The same impulse is now causing thousands to turn to nasturtiums again, because of the great success achieved first by the scarlet double yellow variety Golden Gleam, and now by the bright, sunny, pendulous one of which is the variety Scarlet Gleam.

Scarlet Gleam is a red Golden Gleam, having the same form and fragrance, with a vivid orange scarlet coloring. If anything, its fragrance is greater and its flowers larger and more uniformly double than its parent. Its foliage is similar to Golden Gleam, and it has the same trailing habit.

While nasturtiums are tropical flowers, native in Peru, and they prefer soil which is relatively dry and not too rich, at the same time they do not like extreme hot weather. So remember to give them a location where they may have some protection from the midday sun. If possible, and do not let them go too long without water. If you want plenty of their beautiful flowers.

Scarlet Gleam was awarded a gold medal in the All-America trials for 1935. At the same time a mixed strain of Golden Gleam hybrids was an award of merit. In this mixture are several different colors and combinations of fragrant double varieties, some of which may be better than Scarlet Gleam. As selections of certain colors and forms are made from the mixture and "fixed" as the plant breeders term it, the list of named double varieties will no doubt be enlarged.

At the same time, with public attention again fixed on the nasturtium family, this once popular class may again gain leadership in garden decoration. There are many excellent varieties of single flowers, in a great range of colors and of both dwarf and climbing habit, which are available for garden use.

Broadway: "G Men." Government agents, bleeding throats in the side of the present day hoodlums, stride through gory business in their drive against crime with James Cagney playing on the side of the law in a film that is far and away the best thing he has given the screen. It's a remarkable picture, alive with breathless action and thrills, as it shows the methods the "G Men" employ in their quest of the racketeer and the gangster. James Cagney, as a tough mobster turned government agent, gives a moving and realistic performance in the starring role. He is ably supported by Ann Dvorak, Bob Armstrong, William Harrison, Margaret Lindsay and Regis Toomey. It's a tribute to the rigorous training a government agent must undergo before he wins his spurs in the war against organized crime. The play takes advantage of every dramatic episode and it is probably the most thrilling talkie of the year. Directed by William Keighley, this First National hit is a distinctive triumph for the producers and the well packed group of actors in the cast. Don't miss.

Orpheum: "Little Colonel" and "Square Shooter." Shirley Temple, surrounded by a cast of M. G. M. stars, triumphs again in a story of the old south, where she brings her mother and grandfather together after five years of separation due to misunderstanding. It's a sweet, friendly picture, filled with pretty scenery and childish trust. Lionel Barrymore, Evelyn Venable and John Lodge are in the supporting cast. But Bill Robinson, negro dancing artist, just about steals the picture with his performance. "Square Shooter" tells of the latest doings of Tim McCoy. It has constant action and slight plausibility. Kingston: "Four Hours to Kill." Stark, tense drama is this picture that brings the talented Richard Barthelmess back to the screen after a long absence. Star of many hit pictures, Mr. Barthelmess was never more real and sincere than in his latest characterization. Cast as a doomed killer, on his way across country to hang, he passes four hours in a theatre handcuffed to his guard. In that four hours of waiting the little killer gets redemption. For sheer tenseness and electrifying atmosphere, the incident when he breaks away from his guard and runs loose in the theatre, is as dramatic stuff as one could seek. Although the play is melodramatic, the character offered by Mr. Barthelmess is a study in human frailty. He makes his killer a pathetic person, filled with alternating spasms of fear and bravado, of perplexity and wonder. The show has taken from the stage hit "Small Miracle" by Norman Krass. The cast offers Joe Morrison, Ray Milland, Helen Mack, Gertrude Michael and Charles Wilson. Real drama, played with skill and dexterity and directed with vigor and understanding. One of the don't miss shows of the season.

Tomorrow
Broadway: Same.
Orpheum: "Million Dollar Baby." Little Jimmy Fay may steal Shirley Temple's thunder some day if this picture is any clue to the youngster's ability. The plot tells of a movie company's effort to find a new child star and how a down and out vaudeville team dress their son in girl's clothing and put him across as a new find. There are plenty of laughs in this one. Arline Judge and Ray Walker are in the cast. Kingston: "Cardinal Richelieu." Armhaud, Jean, duPlessis, better known as Cardinal Richelieu, walks his majestic way through the intrigue, diplomacy and whims of the decadent court of the childlike Louis XIII, guiding the destiny of France with an iron will and a cannon-brain. In this latest historical flight by George Arliss into the realms of the great personalities of history, it proves to be a picture of pageantry, of massive sets and elaborate costuming, and although the acting is superb, and although the Richelieu of George Arliss is an impressive figure, the play moves somewhat ponderously through the schemes and trickery of the French court. And Edward Arnold, cast as Louis, gives the most inspired performance of the entire cast. Others in the giant group of supporting players include Halliwell Hobbes, Violet Cooper, Kathryn Alexander, Cesar Romero, Douglas Dumbrille, Maureen O'Sullivan, Guy Bellis, Keith Kenneth, Francis Lister and Murray Kinnell. The direction was by Rowland V. Lee, photography by Percell Marley, adaptation by Cameron Rogers and the entire production was based on a play by Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton.

Public Kidder No. 1

Jack London, maybe a little loved by his big game right, caused a big stir by being an official cameraman. He was "Alvin Karpis, public Enemy No. 1." His show in Chicago after a detective captured him was just a burglary suspect being taken to Memphis, Tenn., from Oregon. (Associated Press Photos)

CONDEMNED MAN IMPLICATES THREE IN MURDER

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gill and their daughter, Zella, 16 (group at right), were jailed at Middleburg, Pa., after Zella's former fiancé allegedly implicated them in the murder of Charles Gable, a local farmer. The fiancé, Sherman L. Strasser (left), awaiting execution for the slaying, is said to have named the Gill family in his plea for clemency. (Associated Press Photos)

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—A few years ago Bing Crosby was creating a tune about "a million-dollar baby from the five-and-ten-cent store."
The same tune is appropriate now for the studio that has put 22-year-old Helen Ericson from Worcester, Mass., under contract. That is, it will be appropriate if Helen realizes her ambition to be a movie star. The casting director who spotted her in the stage presentation here of the farce, "As Thousands Cheer," was Max Arnow, and Arnow thinks she has the makings of a star.

In Helen's case, however, the time would have to be altered somewhat, and elaborated. For one thing, it wasn't exactly a five-and-ten-cent store that she worked in behind the counter. It was one of those dime-to-a-dollar department stores. Besides, Helen worked in it, she says, only on week-ends and holidays. And in her career to date, along with two musical shows, "As Thousands Cheer" and "Of This I Sing," are other week-end and holiday jobs in a neighborhood grocery store and playing a musical to neighbors' children.

Got Chorus Job
There are ten children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ericson at Worcester, Mass., the eldest boy, said to be in show business and Frank, who is six years older than Helen, also helped to make Helen stage-conscious. It was Frank, playing in "Of This I Sing," who suggested to the stage manager that Helen would be just the girl for a vacancy in the line. Helen wasn't working—at the dime store or anywhere else—and she came right along to New York and got the job. She had "always told mother that some day I would be an actress."

Backyard shows in which the younger Ericsons took part, charging three pennies admission and serving free lemonade—"Pearlie," the youngest, was a grand lady Macbeth, according to Helen and Frank—officially started Helen on the acting career. Dramatics in high school whetted an appetite already sharpened by the fact she was a movie fan—the sort of fan, she confesses, who collects players' pictures and keeps a scrap-book of them.

Hoping For 'Breaks'
During the run of "Of This I Sing" in New York Helen had a screen test, but nothing came of it. She hoped, of course, that her appearance in Los Angeles would bring a test and a chance at pictures, but she was surprised when she got it.

Her first call to work—"From Page Woman" with Bette Davis—was a disappointment. They didn't need her that day.

"But I'm expecting a lot of big appointments," she says. "I'm glad to start in little bits, and to try this way to learn how to act."

PROTEGES INNOCENCE TO MURDER CHARGE
Rochester, N. Y., May 25 (AP).—Sullenly protesting his innocence, Nick Bukrich, 42-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was under arrest here today, charged with the torch slaying of an elderly transient with whom he resided.

The victim, Michael George, 59, was found beneath a bed in the squalid cottage the two men occupied here, by firemen summoned to extinguish a blaze in the house. His head was badly battered, apparently, police said, by a heavy instrument.

Memorial Day to Mark Formal Opening Of All the City Parks

Kingston's park system will be officially opened to the general public on Memorial Day. All of the playground equipment is now being installed in the city parks and will be ready for the use of the young folks on the holiday.

Two soft ball courts are being constructed under the supervision of Superintendent James Norton, one at Hasbrouck Park and the other at Forsyth Park. It is expected that both courts will be ready for use by June 3.

At the last meeting of the Board of Public Works the Federation of Men's Clubs of Kingston and vicinity asked that two courts be built in the parks as the Men's Clubs were contemplating the formation of a soft ball league and that at least 10 games a week were to be played. The swimming pools in the parks are now being repainted and all of the park equipment gotten in shape for the season. The tennis courts are now in use in the parks as well as the baseball diamonds. The city authorities are requesting the cooperation of parents in having the children who use the parks out of them by dark.

Local Death Record

Brother John D. Milligan, past state counselor of the J. O. U. A. M., died at his home last evening. Members of the lodge wishing to review the remains may do so at his home, 91 Carpenter avenue, Newburgh, on Sunday evening. The funeral will be held Monday at 3 p. m.

Joshua Brink of 38 Chambers street died this morning at the Kingston Hospital. He was a life long resident of Kingston. His body is lying in state at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 236 Fair street. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Willis A. Cass, a well known and respected resident of Palenville, died at his home there Thursday at the age of 87. Mr. Cass had been a resident of Palenville for many years and followed the carpenter's trade. Surviving are his wife and one son, John L. Cass, both of Palenville, and a sister, Mrs. John W. Eckart of Saugerties.

George N. Longyear died today and funeral services, to which friends and relatives are invited, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Red Hook, N. Y. Interment will be in St. Paul's cemetery at Red Hook. He is survived by his wife, Cathryn Martin Longyear, 1093 Dean street, Schenectady, N. Y.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Berardi, who died early Wednesday morning, was held from the home of her son, Frank Berardi, 142 Hooker street, Friday morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. William H. Kennedy. The Rev. Daniel Funt, pastor of St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, was seated at the altar during the Mass. Thursday evening the Rev. James P. Moore visited the home and led in recitation of the Rosary. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. Also a large number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. The children's choir sang the responses during the Mass. The bearers were Frank Olivet, Charles Delecco, Thomas Saccoman, James Nardi, James Tiano and Frank Jordan. The large funeral cortege was accompanied to St. Mary's Cemetery by the Rev. Benjamin Roth who pronounced the final absolution at the grave as the body was laid to rest in the family plot.

Tries Again For Record
Los Angeles, May 25 (AP)—Laura Ingalls, noted woman pilot, hopped away from Union Air Terminal at Burbank early today on her second attempt to shatter Amelia Earhart's transcontinental speed record. The tiny aviator was determined to send her new $40,000 biplane "Mystery Ship" over the 2,447 mile route from her to New York in less than 17 hours, 7 minutes and 30 seconds—the time set by Amelia Earhart in the summer of 1932.

DEED

LONGYEAR—Saturday, May 25, 1935. George N. Longyear, husband of Cathryn Martin, 1093 Dean street, Schenectady, N. Y. Leaders Fearful On Roosevelt Remark

Washington, May 25 (AP)—Administration leaders were fearful today that President Roosevelt had invited trouble for his legislative program by saying he would veto any measure to which a cash bonus "rider" is attached.

With this flat declaration from the White House, the President's advisers were apprehensive that opponents of some of the administration bills would join forces with the bonus bloc to attach a cash payment rider.

The Chief Executive said he would veto even the most vital administration bill if it was sent to him with a cash payment "rider." His comment came at a time when the bonus forces were already planning a move of that kind.

About The Folks

GOVERNOR PARK TO DECIDE MCGEE'S FATE

Jefferson City, Mo., May 25 (AP)—The man asked to spare the life of the first kidnaper ever sentenced to death in the United States was ready to give his decision today.

He is Gov. Guy B. Park and his decision is anxiously awaited by two persons.

One is Walter McGee, leader of the kidnap gang which abducted Miss Mary McElroy May 27, 1933, and held her for $30,000 ransom. He is awaiting execution in the Jackson county jail at Kansas City May 31.

The other is the victim herself. A month ago she appeared before the governor and asked him to commute the death sentence "for my own peace of mind."

The execution date was originally set for May 10, but after hearing Miss McElroy's plea the governor issued a stay of execution. Yesterday he announced he would make his final decision today. All recourse to the state courts has failed.

FATHER CONATY OBSERVED HIS 33RD ANNIVERSARY AS PRIEST

The Rev. Peter P. Conaty, pastor of Holy Trinity Church in Arlington, Dutchess county, on Friday observed his 33rd anniversary as a priest. He served as pastor of St. Mary's Church in Saugerties from June 18, 1902 until October 15, 1903.

Going to Bermuda.

New York, May 25 (AP)—Governor and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman and their son, John, were preparing to sail for a two weeks' vacation in Bermuda on the Queen of Bermuda today. The governor's party arrived in New York this morning for last minute preparations for the trip. Included in the party will be a stenographer and a corporal of State Troopers. A considerable part of the governor's time during his vacation will be devoted to deep sea fishing. On his return he will go direct to Albany and prepare a schedule of his summer activities.

To Attend Services

Members of Kingston Post American Legion and members of the Auxiliary will attend memorial services at the W. N. Conner Church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Clarence E. Brown, pastor of the church and the chaplain of the Post, will preach on "Our Sacred Trust." Members of the Post and any veterans desiring to attend the service will assemble at the Legion building at 7 p. m. Sunday.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, May 25.—The three-act play, "Chintz Cottage," was presented in the Grange Hall, Thursday and Friday evenings, under the direction of Mrs. Beulah Thompson. The affair was successfully conducted.

Miss Gertrude Kopaski, teacher in Plattekill school district No. 1, attended teachers' conference at Marlborough Friday.

Mrs. Jack Lathrop, who has been spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. Charles Johnston, has charge of the Tourists Information Bureau at New Paltz and is staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gerow, at New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schriever have returned to Damascus, Ohio, after attending the funeral of the latter's father, Elsworth Gerow.

Mrs. Edward Harris attended a sorority reunion at Suffern, N. Y., recently.

A group of workmen are repairing section of the county highway between Plattekill and Ardonia, which has been ravaged by winter conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nabor of East Walden were callers on Mr. and Mrs. William Nabor last week.

The Rev. J. William Taylor of Vails Gate, formerly of Plattekill, was a recent caller on Dr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston.

Mrs. Abram D. Wager, Mrs. Ransel Wager and son, Harold, and Miss Glennie Wager of Modena were callers on Venerable Wager and family Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dunn of Boston spent the past week-end with their daughter, Mrs. Harry Tapper.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gerow returned to their home at Adams, N. Y., on Saturday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Gerow.

Charles Dempsey was a caller in Modena Tuesday.

James B. Palmer was a caller on friends in New Paltz and Oliville Sunday.

Miss E. Fulton of Newburgh visited her sister, Mrs. Edward Harris and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Fowler, Miss May Dayton, James and Charles Dayton were among local people who attended the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Shay at Walden Sunday.

Donald Patridge of Modena has been spending several days in town.

WILLOW

Willow, May 25.—Mrs. Walter Jessup entertained the "Win and Work" Society of the Willow Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon, May 22. Plans were talked over for the annual lawn party to be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. MacKenzie. A vote was taken as to the date to hold the lawn party and it was unanimously carried to have it Friday, August 3, from 3 o'clock in the afternoon till 10 o'clock at night. If stormy, the lawn party will be held the next day.

A caterer's supper will be served. Those who attended were Mrs. Mary Hasbrouck, Mrs. Clarence Wolcott, Mrs. Kenneth Van Wagner, Miss Mary C. Hillman, Miss Ethel W. Wilber, Miss Ella Martin, Mrs. Ray Ford and her mother, Mrs. N. C. Hooke, Mrs. Charles T. MacKenzie, Mrs. William Van Wagner, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. M. Georgi and Miss Nellie Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. MacKenzie, accompanied by Miss Mary C. Hillman and Mrs. N. C. Hooke, spent Tuesday in Kingston in honor of Mrs. N. C. Hooke, who sails for home on Friday, May 24.

Walter Jessup spent Wednesday afternoon with Max Georgi at a stag party.

Mrs. Paul Tate and Miss Helen Tate, accompanied by their guest from New York, spent Wednesday at Catskill.

Mrs. T. G. S. Hooke, accompanied by Mrs. N. C. Hooke, motored to Englewood, N. J., Thursday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Foster will entertain at dinner in her home in Englewood for Mrs. N. C. Hooke, who sails for England Friday.

Mrs. N. C. Hooke sails for her home abroad on Friday, May 24, on the S. S. Lacomia. She will embark at Liverpool, England. Mrs. Hooke has been in America for the past year as the guest of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. T. G. S. Hooke, at "Wildwood Farms." She has made many friends in this vicinity who feel sorry to have her leave. She was charmed with America, it being her first visit here, and says the Catskill Mountains resemble Scotland so much.

Mrs. Cross and Mr. and Mrs. Waller, all of New York city, are spending the week-end at their cottages.

Play Given At Zena

Sahler Sanitarium Continues Operation

Despite the rumor which has been circulated the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium is not to be closed. Reports to that effect are untrue and unfounded. In accordance with the provisions of Mrs. C. A. Sahler's will the business is being conducted under the management of Miss Charlotte Atkins and the executors, Henry W. Krempner and Harold V. Story.

Established since 1896, the sanitarium has grown until today it is recognized as one of the leading institutions of its kind in the state, and has listed among its guests and patients some of the most prominent figures in public life. The same policies and courtesies which were inaugurated by its founder the late Dr. C. O. Sahler and advanced so successfully by Mrs. Sahler will be retained.

It was the wish of Mrs. Sahler that the operation of the sanitarium be continued in its traditional spirit of service and efficiency and this request is being fulfilled.

Ed Scherer and Pres Knight In Pitchers' Duel; Hercules Win

Eddie Scherer, quick delivery artist of the Hercules, proved too much for the Formost Packers at the Athletic Field, Friday evening and handed them a flock of geese eggs to whitewash them, 2 to 0. The victory enabled the Powdermen to go into a tie for second place with the Hairdressers in the City Baseball League.

The game was a real pitchers' battle and although Scherer was returned the victor he had Lady Luck with him, because the two runs his teammates scored on Pres Knight's "Breeze" pitcher, were gifts, the result of inferior fielding.

In fact, Knight held the Powdermen to two hits, one less than Scherer was nicked for. But Knight's control was not as good as his opponent. At times he was wild and issued five free trips to first base and one paved the way to a run. Knight continued setting the batters down by way of the strikeout route, adding seven to his list.

The batters lucky enough to connect for safe hits were Knight, Dawkins and Stumpf for the Packers; Van Eiten and Cullum for the Powdermen. Dawkins' clout was the best of the evening.

The Packers committed five errors in all, three of them figuring in the scoring. In the second inning Short singled to left field and stole second base. On an attempt to steal third he kept right on running towards home when Dawkins, Packers' catcher, tossed the ball over Johnson's head at third and run No. 1 was registered.

Two more errors in the third gave the Powdermen their other run. Niles received free transportation to first base. He stole second and continued to third on Mills' error of Dawkins' throw. Johnson picked up Cullum's grounder and tossed to Martin at first base for the putout, but Martin let the ball get through him and Niles chalked up run No. 2.

Formosts' best chance to score came when Knight reached third in the fifth inning. He singled to left field, reached second on Dawkins' infield out and advanced to third on Mills' long fly to right field. But Benjamin could do nothing with Scherer's slants and fanned the breeze, leaving Knight stranded on third. It was the only time the Packers had a chance to score.

SIDELINERS

The Packers are playing under a handicap. Three of their players are ill and two are out of town. Earl Benjamin, regular packer catcher, made a late appearance and for two innings the Packers had to play with eight men.

Stumpf's pickup of Niles' sizzler in the fourth inning was the outstanding play of the game.

Houghtaling of Hercules and Johnson of Formosts accepted six chances perfectly.

Scherer didn't use his quick delivery much. He didn't have to.

WHERE WOULD LIKE A GAME

WITH ST. Remy MEMORIAL DAY

The Diers baseball team would like to hook a game with the St. Remy team for Memorial Day. They would like to hear from Manager Barrett by Monday. The Diers are making a few changes in their line-up, which it is expected will strengthen the team considerably and put them in shape to hit their winning stride again.

SULLIVAN vs BAER

A Pictorial History of the Heavyweights

XIII. DEMPSEY VS. TUNNEY—1926 (Philadelphia)

The championship career of Jack Dempsey—as great a symbol in fight history as was the first great champion, John L. Sullivan—came to an end in the rain of a distressing September night in Philadelphia in 1926.

Scarcely considered formidable by anyone but himself and a few friends, Boxer Gene Tunney—who was to Slugger Dempsey what Boxer Corbett was to Slugger Sullivan—stripped the old man mauler of his title by decision in ten rounds as 118,736 in the huge Sesquiennial stadium gasped in the downpour and Tex Rickard counted the second greatest game in fight history, $1,895,733.

Dempsey had picked Tunney as his opponent, feeling that under the stress of his personal difficulties at the time, plus an absence of three years from the ring, he must take the weakest rather than the strongest foe available. He had forgotten that his toughest fight as champion up to that time had been with another superlative boxer, Tommy Gibbons, at Shelby, Mont.

son last Sunday, 21 to 2, registering 15 strikeouts. Brenner will be behind the bat. In case Benny doesn't produce the goods Copake has Spike Van Alstyne, former minor league star, to fall back on.

Manager Herb Mills of the Formosts isn't worrying too much, but expects a good hard scrap. He will start Bill Thomas, with Benjamin doing the catching. The rest of the line-up will be the same as used in the City League game.

The Formosts are asked to be on hand promptly at 12 Sunday to leave for Copake.

Benny, who won his game for Hud-

Tunney, master of defense, a punishing, cutting right hand puncher with an artistic left hand, stabbed and battered Dempsey round after round as rain poured down and they sloshed in water that puddled all over the canvas. Right under the gun, the imperturbable Tunney, former marine, Shakespearean scholar, a fighting machine moved only by calmness and logic, took his lone gamble.

In the first round he met Dempsey's big charge with a thunderous right hand belt to the jaw that nearly felled the champion then and there and from which Dempsey never really recovered. Retreating when he had to, but pouring in a deadly accurate fire, Tunney had the upper hand through all but one moment of the fight, when Dempsey poured one left hook into his throat, hitting him on the Adam's apple.

At the end Dempsey was groggy, his left eye closed, the left side of his face badly smashed. He fumbled his way from the ring announcing his retirement, but he came back for another try a year later in Chicago.

Expect Hard Scrap At Copake Sunday

The Formosts journey to Copake Sunday for another game with the Copake team, which they defeated two weeks ago by a score of 11 to 5. Rumors are that they will have their work cut out for them tomorrow. Copake will probably pitch Benny, who won his game for Hud-

LITTLE AND TWEDDELL IN FINAL

Both of them title holders, William Lawrence Little, Jr. (left), of San Francisco, and Dr. William Tweddell, an Englishman, were to meet in the 30-fight final of the British amateur golf contest. Little won last year and Dr. Tweddell in 1927. (Associated Press Photos)

Ross and McLarnin Wind Up Training

By EDWARD J. NEEL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, May 25 (AP).—One thing seems certain when Barney Ross collides for the third time with the welterweight champion, Jimmy McLarnin, in the Polo Grounds, Tuesday night—somebody's going to get hurt.

Their training chores in the Catskills wind up today, and both will head for New York, where revived interest in the business of athletics indicates that some 35,000 cash customers will pay close to $200,000, if the weather turns reasonably warm, to see them fight another 16 rounds.

Their first match, in which Ross won a close decision and added the welterweight title to his lightweight crown, grossed almost $200,000, and the second, last September, when McLarnin, on another tight decision, took it back, drew about $150,000. This time Ross is an 8 to 5 favorite to win decisively.

They come into New York with both stressing right hands to the point of fanaticism. Ross, grown so heavy that he had to abdicate his lightweight throne this spring, has taken his increased poundage as an indication that he has become a knockout puncher, particularly with his right hand. McLarnin, in a dozen years of hard campaigning, always has been a thunderous wallop with either hand.

Both Camps Confident

One of the strangest features of the situation is the absolute confidence of both camps that each warrior will win within ten rounds by a knockout. McLarnin, always reticent, has left his predicting to "Pop" Foster, his veteran manager, and guardian.

"Pop" without a quiver and despite the fact that Jimmy has had considerable trouble with excess weight, says that Ross won't last five rounds this time, that it's the easiest match his protégé ever tackled. McLarnin weighed 147½ pounds yesterday, the heaviest poundage of his career.

Ross finally spoke up in his own behalf yesterday, after maintaining a silence equal to that of McLarnin.

"I'll knock Jimmy out in eight or nine rounds this time," he said. "I want to get him while he's fresh and there's no excuse. If I wait until the 12th or so, everybody would think I was taking advantage of him after he got tired."

Batting Averages Trend Downward

New York, May 25 (AP).—With a few notable exceptions the batting averages of the major league leaders continued their downward movement during the past week and the select group whose marks went up instead of down occupied prominent positions in the two races today.

The most notable batting feat for the week which ended with yesterday's games, was that of Bob Johnson, of the Philadelphia Athletics, who smashed his way into the American League lead with a .30-point gain, which brought his average up to .421.

The senior circuit leader, Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Pittsburgh managed to improve his mark to .385 to .402, with hits in 24 times up.

Saugerties Defeats Kingston High in 11 Inning Contest, 4-3

Friday afternoon at the Saugerties Athletic Field, Bud Zoller of Kingston and Frank Bruno of Saugerties engaged in a pitcher's battle that carried a scheduled seven-inning contest into a eleventh inning game as Saugerties defeated Kingston High 4-3 on a single in the eleventh.

Vic Imperato was the villain that ended the ball game in favor of the Cahillmen by driving a fast single to left to score Campochiaro. Campochiaro had gotten on base on his third of the game, had advanced on a sacrifice from where he scored on Imperato's single.

Bud Zoller, who made history by pitching a no-hitter on his last appearance on the mound, upheld Kingston's end in the pitching battle. In the first inning he was rather shaky, allowing five hits and being nicked for three of Saugerties' four runs. After this, however, he bore down and allowed only two hits up until the eleventh, when he was nicked for two more hits and the winning run Altogether Zoller allowed nine hits, fanned nine and walked one.

Bruno Fans Thirteen

Frank Bruno was on the hill for Saugerties and of the two pitching performances he was the best. Through the eleven inning stretch he allowed only five hits and kept these well scattered. Pitching a sweet brand of ball he fanned thirteen men. He also allowed six walks. These walks and the weak throwing arm of Ed Imperato, Saugerties catcher, gave him plenty of trouble. In the pinch, however, he bore down and managed to escape unscathed.

Captain Jack Murphy started the Kiamen off to a good start by driving a long double to deep center. From here he reached third on a sacrifice from where he scored on an infield out.

A poor bunt, a single, a fluke double by J. Overbaugh and a single by Gerald Overbaugh, were the ingredients of Saugerties' three runs in the first inning. The fluke double in reference was a high fly hit behind first base and inside the foul line. Linden, Hopper and Murphy all tried to catch it with no avail. The batter, J. Overbaugh, was accredited with a double.

Van Derzee, who scored the second Kingston run, reached first on being hit by the pitcher. From there a stolen base, a wild pitch and a single by Elmer Hopper sent him over the plate with the run.

Zoller crossed the plate with the tying run after getting on base on a walk, advancing on a grounder by Murphy and scoring on a single by Ralph DeCicco.

Battagline and Gerald Overbaugh gave the best performance in the field. Battagline at third took care of three hard grounders and Overbaugh in left field engaged six balls.

G. Overbaugh robbed Jack Linden of a possible double when he had to back to the fence in left field to make the catch.

In the beginning of the sixth, Kingston almost won the ball game. With two outs Kingston loaded the bases with a single and two walks. Here with a bit of "Casey at the bat" drama Jack Murphy came to bat. The count went to three balls. Then a strike was called. Murphy hit the next pitch foul and then fanned on the next ball pitched.

Campochiaro with three hits and the two Overbaughs and Vic Imperato each with a brace of hits collected all of Saugerties' nine hits.

both of whom are connected with the Broadway show business. They were also the founders of the very successful summer theatre at Suffern, N. Y., last year.

Major Joseph S. Tate assumed his duties this week as instructor of the National Guard at the State Armory on Manor avenue. Major Tate who is now living at the Governor Clinton Hotel, comes to Kingston from Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He will be joined later by his wife and three sons who are now attending the Kent School.

Reservations for the luncheon to be held by the Ulster County Historical Society on Wednesday, June 5, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, are being made rapidly. Indications are that the attendance will be fully as large as at these affairs in other years. Mrs. Olive Sarre is acting as chairman of the luncheon which will be preceded by a literary session in the hotel lobby. At this time papers will be read by Mrs. Alton Brooks Parker on the late Judge Alton B. Parker and by the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck. Judge Hasbrouck has made a special study of the old stone houses of the town of Esopus and will speak concerning them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt of Highland are entertaining as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Howard Deyo of Montclair, N. J.

County Highway Program Defeated

gram was being offered so that work could begin on roads.

To this Supervisor George replied that there had been a meeting but it had been impossible to prepare a schedule because no plan had been offered by the county superintendent. Supervisor Osterhout of Marlborough said he did not feel in a position to vote intelligently on the program advanced by the Republican members of the board and said he believed the Highway Committee knew more about the roads and need of roads and he asked if the Highway Committee had anything to say on the plan or what it wanted.

Supervisor George speaking for the committee said that he would be willing to hear any member of the board or any taxpayer on what they believed was desired and also the county superintendent. His committee desired time to consider.

Motion For Adoption Lost
The motion was then put for the adoption of the road program advanced by the Republican side of the house and it was lost with a party vote of 16 to 16. Supervisor McDowell, Democrat, being absent.

Then there was a quick motion by Supervisor George to adjourn until next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Supervisor Sears moved to amend the motion to read that the board adjourn out of respect to the memory of William Wright, former supervisor of Marlborough and Supervisor Terwilliger amended the motion that the board adjourn also out of respect to the memory of Joseph Scott, late supervisor of Shawangunk. The motion to adjourn was carried.

Routine Matters
A number of routine matters were disposed of.

County Attorney Ewig reported to the board that he had attended a recent meeting before the Public Service Commission when the New York Central Railroad moved to suspend the order of the commission which directed the elimination of the grade crossing on the Kingston-Saugerties highway over the West Shore tracks. The railroad contended that since the by-pass was being constructed along East Chester street that need for the elimination was no longer pressing. Mr. Ewig said he had opposed the suspension of the order on the grounds that the county had gone to some expense to purchase rights of way and that several pieces of property had been acquired and a commission had been appointed in condemnation proceedings to acquire additional lands. His letter was received and filed.

A communication was received requesting that there be added to the county road map under section 320-b that section of road from Schoenag's Corner east past Fuller's store to the foot of Glasco hill and that the road be constructed as a county road. On resolution of Supervisor Shultz the road was added. It is 1.30 miles in length.

A claim of the Manistia Construction Corporation, contractors who built the Napanoch bridge, for $2,828.64 for extra excavation work was read and County Attorney Ewig sent a communication recommending that the money be paid on condition a release was signed by the company. This was for excavation of 1,298 cubic yards of material at $2.18 a yard. On resolution of Supervisor George the claim was authorized paid from the funds in the bridge fund.

A communication was received from the Central Business Men's Association stating opposition to elimination of the Broadway grade crossing by depression of Broadway. Received and filed.

On resolution of Supervisor Pine of New Paltz, Robert Parks was reappointed to the Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

A card was received and read from Mrs. William Wright of Marlborough expressing her appreciation for expressions of sympathy received from the board of supervisors at the death of her husband, late supervisor from that town.

A communication was received from the town board of Marlborough under date of May 23, 1935, requesting that that portion of old route 9-W from Quaker church north to the Lloyd line, a distance of 1.3 miles be made a part of the county highway system.

Bridge Resolution Lost
Supervisor Voss of Shandaken offered a resolution that the Longyear Bridge up Woodland Valley, which was destroyed by the flood of August, 1933, and now replaced by a temporary bridge, be reconstructed. His resolution stated that the present temporary bridge was in danger of placing the people of the locality in a bad position. His resolution called for the preparation of plans and specifications by the county superintendent for a new bridge together with estimates of cost.

This again caused considerable discussion. Supervisor George said that he believed similar resolutions had been offered before. At that time he said the present county superintendent had been county superintendent. He said he thought the request should be made to the committee.

Mr. Voss replied that he had made previous efforts to have the bridge built but former resolutions had not brought the bridge and he believed that if the members of the board were acquainted with the situation they would vote for the bridge. It was suggested the matter be referred to the County Superintendent.

Supervisor George said he had lost the bridge in the flood of 1933, but he thought the taxpayers should be considered before bridges were asked for.

Mr. Voss called for a vote on his resolution. The vote was a party vote with the final score 16 to 16 and the resolution was lost.

It eliminates the usual 10% penalty.
Supervisors Shultz, Osterhout and Armater, members of the machinery committee, offered a resolution that payment for two Walter trucks be completed for cash instead of by certificates of indebtedness as had been contracted for with the manufacturers. The trucks were purchased for $12,900 and $4,900 was paid in cash. The balance of $8,000 was to be paid by certificates, one of $2,000 due in a year and one of $3,000 due in two years. The money is now on hand and the committee recommended and moved that the payments be made in cash.

Supervisor Elsworth said that if a suitable release could be had between the company and the highway officials he had no objection to payment by cash instead of by certificate. He said that $12,000 had been made available and the trucks had been purchased some time ago. The Highway Committee in buying the trucks and paying $8,000 in cash and obligating the county for the additional payment he said had done so illegally he believed. The Highway Committee had no power to obligate the county to certificates of indebtedness. He asked whether the bodies had been provided for the trucks and if the trucks were complete.

Supervisor Stanbrough asked whether the certificates of indebtedness had been issued and was told they had not been.

It was stated that $6,900 had been paid on account from the Machinery Fund and there was $5,100 left of the $12,000 fund after that payment. At the last meeting of the board $900 had been transferred to the Machinery Fund and now the $6,000 was on hand to make the payments.

Supervisor Osterhout said an agreement had been secured authorizing the payment of cash for the trucks and the bodies were ready to be placed on the trucks as soon as the trucks were sent to the factory in Long Island City. The reason the trucks had been received without bodies was because the bodies had not been completed by the body factory when the trucks were needed for snow removal and they were shipped without bodies. The bodies were now ready at the factory, awaiting the trucks being sent down for the installation of the bodies.

Payment of the remaining $6,000 by cash was unanimously ordered.

The board authorized payment of a blind benefit to a person, now a resident of Ulster county, who seeks to move to Dutchess county.

An increase was also granted a blind resident of the town of Esopus. The original resolution was offered by Supervisor Cullen but Supervisor Elsworth stated that it was customary for the resolutions to be offered by the supervisor from the town in which the party resided. Mr. Cullen withdrew and Mr. Elsworth offered the resolution increasing the allowance from $20 a month to $25.

On resolution by Supervisors Cullen, Derrinbacher and Elsworth the county treasurer was authorized to pay the sum of $3,302.05 for expenses of furnishing and decorating the offices of the Judge of the Court of Appeals and the offices of the Supreme Court Justice in the court house.

This item was not originally included in the court house renovation. It was stated that the amount had been paid by the county auditor and a transfer of funds was authorized to cover the expenditure.

An adjourned session will be held next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

NEW PALTZ
New Paltz, May 25.—The second of the series of band concerts was held on the corner of Chestnut street and Main street Wednesday evening by the Normal School Band. There was a good crowd present to enjoy the fine entertainment. The next concert will be Wednesday evening, May 29, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Third and fourth degrees were conferred on several candidates at the last meeting of Huguenot Grange. The program consisted of several piano selections by Dr. Irving Range, a talk on oral hygiene by Dr. A. C. Grimes and the Rev. George Wulfschlaeger gave an interesting talk on home making. A social time followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dupuy and son were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dupuy at Mettuchahonta.

Mrs. Daniel Gerow, Mrs. Jack Lathrop and Mrs. Herbert LeFevre called on friends in Tiltona one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osterhout and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. EM Rider and other friends at Mettuchahonta on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Oster called on the supper bridge club at their home Monday evening.

More Than Half Y. W. C. A. Funds In

would be not only doing, but enjoying while things were being done. Mr. Dunn highly praised the Y. W. C. A. for being an organization keeping "out of the red", and for the way in which its finances are conducted. While interested in what the older folk think about the Y. W. C. A., Mr. Dunn said he was even more deeply impressed by what the young folk, our Kingston girls thought of their Y. W. C. A. so he had asked two high school girls to write short letters giving their views on the subject. The very valuable letters follow.

The Y. W. C. A. has offered me a good many opportunities, such as dramatic work, handicraft, sports of all kinds, and also contact with girls of all ages, ranging from the Bluebirds, 1st grade in grammar school, to the Young Married Women's Club.

Our High School Club, the Tri-Hi, has speakers come and talk to the girls on vocations and other topics of interest. The girls interested in Dramatics give small plays at our weekly meetings which helps train them to appear before the public. Around Christmas time, I have derived a great deal of pleasure from making presents for my family, and this is one phase of the work at the "Y" which many girls take advantage of.

The "Y" has always meant a great deal to me. Each club has brought new and different contacts. From the time when I was a member of the "Blue Birds" until now when I am a member of the "Tri-Hi", I have enjoyed the meetings at the "Y". Some of my fondest memories are of the good times I had while a member of the "Busy Bees" and "Tri-Hi" clubs. In sports, social work, health and leadership, in all of them, I received my first training at the "Y".

Most of all, I treasure the friendships I have made through the "Y". These friendships are not only with girls of my own age but with the women who have acted as our advisors and helpers. I feel that the "Y" fulfills its purpose in every way. I am grateful for the part it has played in my life.

Principal Dunn closed with the very sincere wish that the campaign might be so successful that the program of the Y. W. C. A. would not be curtailed.

Then came an exceedingly clever playlet, announced by Miss Bell, entitled "Here We Are", written by a Y. W. C. A. Secretary from some other city. It was not only very clever and humorous but it gave a very vivid picture of how not to "go" and how to "go" after Y. W. C. A. campaign money, and was very realistically given, with no fuss about necessities. The cast was as follows: Joan—Esther Anderson; Joan—Dorothy Kaplan; Joan—Margaret Howe; Joan—Betty Tinney; Joan—Edna Partlan; Joan—Dorothy Brooks.

The scenes were as follows: I. Corridor; II. Office of Mr. Stone; III. Office of Mr. Rock; IV. Corridor; V. Office of Mr. Flint; VI. Corridor near elevator.

Joan knew "how not" to get money by telling Mr. Stone that "of course they would like ten or five dollars or even $1 and received the latter amount when Mr. Stone had really expected to be held up for the nice sum of $50. Joan thought "jolly" them along was the best way to get money from such a man as Mr. Rock and got nothing. Joan knew that she must be able to tell about the Y. W. C. A. activities, its place in the community, its way of spending the money raised in campaigns and the good it did in the world. She expected a large subscription from Mr. Flint and confided in him that there were men right in his own building who had given a dollar, and nothing, but admitted she knew he was not that sort. He wasn't after that remark and not only gave $100 himself but persuaded Mr. Rock and Mr. Stone to do the same because the Y. W. C. A. was such a splendid investment. The six clever actors appeared "Here We Are", as the grand finale. Then came the always highly exciting period of the Campaign when the returns were announced as follows:

Previous Total	$1,454.00
Team No. 1: Mrs. William C. Kingman, Mrs. A. Noble Graham	$22.00
Team No. 2: Mrs. Arthur Wicks, Mrs. John W. Matthews	190.50

Team 4—Mrs. Terwilliger	10
Team 5—Mrs. Stepha	10
Team 6—Mrs. Beatrice Forkey	21
Team 7—Myron and Gabe	11

Team 6 therefore was the Kingston Cup for the evening. The evening closed with a few words from the splendid Campaign Manager, Mrs. Frederic Nelson, who reminded them all that Saturday noon, was the time set for the beginning of the "Free For All" period of securing subscriptions, and advised the workers as to the best way of carrying on that part of the campaign. She also reminded them of the two prizes to be won: the first for the largest number of subscriptions of $1 or more for the entire week and the other for the largest number of subscriptions secured between the evening of the meeting (Friday) and Monday evening. The next and closing supper of the Campaign will be held next Monday evening.

More Milk In The Pail

Cows given access to drinking cups in their stanchions, produce more milk and more butter fat than when they are watered at outside troughs. Other livestock respond equally well. A MYERS Water System on the farm pays for itself as surely in dollars and cents as it does in convenience and comfort.
